00:00:04	Samira Parhizkar	Hi everyone, I'm Samira Parhizkar and I am doing a Biochemistry/Molecular Medicine PHD in Munich. My first year is almost already over and the experience I have been through so far has inspired me to be a part of this wonderful vlogging project. So I moved to the UK to England for four years and I got my Master's Degree in Neuroscience from University of Nottingham. I applied to the Max Planck Institute, it offers a Grad School Programme for
00:00:34		PHD students and now here I am in Munich. The overall experience has actually been quite different to what I expected, not only in terms of doing a PHD but specifically doing a PHD in Germany. I hope to take you with me on this exciting and definitely challenging journey around my PHD world.
