

PhD Vlog Introduction: Sana Rahim

TIME	SPEAKER	TRANSCRIPTION
0:00:06		Hi, everyone. My name is Sana Rahim and I have just started my PhD with the University of Leicester through the Department of International Relations.
0:00:14		Through this vlogging project, I want to show you how I managed to be a mother; how I handle my two kids as well as achieve my academic goals, as well as just managing my time effectively. Prior to this PhD, I did my Masters degree also with the University of Leicester, also distant learning and I also did a law degree by distant learning before that.
0:00:37		So I have great experience in handling my kids and my studies together, but I do think that a PhD is a whole different ball game and things are going to get tougher. So I hope that you enjoy the month and yeah, stick around.
